Our Director

Miranda Cordes-

Owner, Artistic Director, Executive Director

Miss Miranda began dancing at age 8 with Debbie's Dance Dimensions before training at the Beth Fowler School of Dance, Joffrey Ballet in NYC, Ballet Chicago, and The Joel Hall Dance Center. She has performed with companies across Chicagoland and Milwaukee, including Elements Contemporary Ballet and Joel Hall II. Returning to DeKalb in 2006, Miranda studied at NIU's School of Theatre and Dance on full scholarship before teaching at local studios and serving as Assistant Artistic Director at the Beth Fowler School of Dance. In 2013, she took over Debbie's Dance Dimensions, and later relocated and rebranded to Dimensions Dance Academy in 2018. In 2020, she founded the non-profit extension, Dimensions Youth Ballet. A Chicago National Association of Dance Masters member, Miranda holds teaching certifications in Progressing Ballet Technique, Acrobatic Arts, and American Ballet Theatre's national training curriculum (pre-primary to level 3). She continues to train and perform while leading DDA and DYB, dedicated to enriching DeKalb's arts culture and fostering leadership, discipline, and appreciation for the arts.

Senior Spotlight

Amelie Grada-Romero

Amelie is a member of the DYB Senior Company at Dimensions Dance Academy, where she has trained since the age of nine. Having danced for the past nine years, Amelie also spent three years on DeKalb High School's varsity dance team, helping lead the team to a second-place sectional finish and a trip to the state competition. In addition to her dedication to dance, Amelie was actively involved in her school community through Key Club, Student Council, and the National Honor Society. As a recent graduate, Amelie plans to double major in History and Biochemistry at Augustana College before pursuing a master's degree in History and completing a four-year Doctor of Optometry program. Amelie dances with the hope of making others feel something meaningful each time she performs.

Natalie Spector

Natalie has been dancing with Dimensions Dance Academy for the past eight years and has also been a member of Dimensions Youth Ballet. A graduate of Sycamore High School, Natalie has spent the past four years participating in Orchesis and was also a member of the dance team for two years. This fall, Natalie will be attending the University of Montana, where she plans on majoring in Parks, Tourism, and Recreation with a minor in Business. Natalie loves dancing because it gives her the opportunity to move and express herself creatively. She also treasures the joy dance brings to others and the lifelong friendships and support she has found within her dance family.
